

VetusMaxwell, Inc. Announces CWR Wholesale Distribution as New Master Distributor

The new partnership greatly expands VetusMaxwell's product reach

HANOVER, Maryland (May 2, 2018) — VetusMaxwell, Inc., the world's leading single source for innovative marine systems, today announced a new partnership with CWR Wholesale Distribution that will expand its product line across the Eastern seaboard.

"CWR will now stock the top 100 fastest moving parts from bolts and washers to normal zincs and props for thrusters," said Chris DeBoy, vice president of marketing and sales for VetusMaxwell. "Dealers can be confident they can get these products fast and efficiently to consumers."

VetusMaxwell's products will now be housed in warehouses in Tampa, Florida and Bayville, New Jersey, ensuring two-day delivery to anywhere on the Eastern seaboard. The partnership significantly improves and expands the U.S. customer experience.

CWR has more than 30 years of experience in marine product distribution. The customer-facing marine electronics distributor is one of the most successful in the industry. CWR offers extremely competitive prices while pledging comprehensive customer service throughout the buying process. CWR's online website will provide customers from all over the world with 24/7 access to VetusMaxwell inventory. CWR professionalism, dedication to customer service and unmatched access to marine products will ensure a compatible partnership between the two companies.

About VetusMaxwell, Inc.

VetusMaxwell, Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of VETUS B.V. in the Netherlands, a Yanmar company. It is the single source for innovative marine systems. Its brands include Vetus, an internationally operating developer, manufacturer and trading company that sells technical

Media Contact:

Christina Erb LoVullo
Catapult Creative Labs
303.253.6361, ext. 6361
clovullo@aimmedia.com

equipment for recreational craft and small commercial vessels; and Maxwell, a heritage marine company that provides anchoring solutions for pleasure boats and commercial vessels. VetusMaxwell's Hanover, Md., office is responsible for sales and product support for the North, Central, and South American regions of the world. This established crew is eager to answer technical questions and support our customer base. The hours of operation are 8:30AM – 5:00PM EST, and the phone number is 410-712-0740. For more information, please visit www.vetus-maxwell.com