NAUTI-TECH SYSTEMS BECOMES EXCLUSIVE MARPOWER DEALER

Nauti-Tech Systems, manufacturer of high-performance marine power handling equipment, is now the exclusive Marpower dealer in North America. The agreement expands the company's ability to service large vessels with unique power needs, including ships and superyachts.

"Marpower products are fully customizable to the application and widely scalable, so they're quite complementary to what we offer," said Jack Brunier, Nauti-Tech Systems president. "By becoming their dealer in the US and Canada, we have the ability to assist owners and builders of very large vessels in developing shore and onboard power systems."

Netherlands-based Marpower, an Eekels brand within the family of TBI companies, develops and manufactures custom electrical engineering solutions. Working in the commercial and recreational marine and offshore oil and gas sectors, it offers electric propulsion drive systems, energy automation and related equipment. The company's power converters have been installed in workboats and premier yachts for eight years. Its website is marpower.com.

Nauti-Tech Systems offers a wide range of technologically advanced marine electronics. Its equipment is used on recreational boats, megayachts, and commercial and naval vessels worldwide.
