

PROSPECT SIGNS HAIMES COLEMAN GROUP FOR SOUTHEAST

Prospect Electronics, market leader in high-performance outdoor audio solutions, has signed Haimes Coleman Group to market its award-winning products throughout the Southeast US. Dave Sykes, president and CEO, made the recent announcement.

For 24 years, Haimes Coleman Group has served dealers, distributors, retailers and OEMs in the marine, powersports and sporting goods segments. It provides a wide range of products and complete representation services.

"We're excited to have Haimes Coleman represent our company," said Josh Berry, VP of sales and marketing. "They have longstanding relationships with their customers and the well-earned respect of several industries."

Prospect Electronics pioneers audio innovation by developing products and technologies that transform how people listen to music outdoors. It offers a wide range of receivers, amplifiers, speakers, subwoofers, remotes and complete stereo packages, as seen with the JBL by Harman, Infinity by Harman, MPro, and Millennia audio brands.

Dave Coleman of Haimes Coleman notes, "We are excited to be associated with Prospect Electronics and the iconic marine brands from Harman. Dave and the team at Prospect are abundantly knowledgeable and have a successful history. Our team is looking forward to representing them and the innovative products they have introduced and are about to introduce."
