Since 1992, the Bolton family has developed Armstrong Marine, Duckworth, KingFisher, Northwest, and Weldcraft Boats into leading heavy-gauge aluminum boat brands. Focused on recreational boating, commercial use, law enforcement and military applications; the Bolton family is well-established in multiple marine sectors. Combined, the Bolton family has built the #1 market share in North America.

Armstrong Marine, Daigle Marine, KingFisher Boats, and Renaissance Marine Group operate as separate business units but share best practices and collaborate on strategic planning. The group is built on a foundation of solid values sharing an emphasis on community enrichment, striving to be the employer of choice while placing a high focus on innovation and product development.
